What's happening?

Are you an LLB or Diploma student and keen to find out about working in-house or for a high street firm? We know your law fair isn't always the best place to do this, so we're bringing employers to you for a separate event. We'll be focusing on how to find opportunities in-house or in small firms, as well as exploring what career progression looks like in these environments.

Representatives from high street firms and in-house organisations will feature in a chaired Q&A session to answer questions like:

- What do high street employers look for in candidates?
- What is the best way to approach a high street employer?
- Do speculative applications actually work?
- What does a traineeship in-house look like?
- Where can you find out about in-house employers?

Please note you must be registered as a student associate to attend this event. It only takes two minutes to sign up and is totally free!

Programme Details

17:30 - 17:45

Start of the session

Grab a drink and take a seat!

17:45 - 18:00

Welcome from the Law Society

A (very!) short presentation from Yasemin Guven, Careers Development Officer at the Law Society, including an employability skills refresh and information on where you can get more support.

18:00 - 18:45

Q&A with our panel

The panel will be a mixture of in-house and high-street employers, who are all invested in talking to students about the benefits of working in their fields and considering a career outside big firms.

There will be the opportunity to ask questions on the evening, but also to submit questions in advance. We advise definitely making the most of this to ensure you get as much out of the session as possible! You can ask anything from how to find out who high street employer are, to understanding how to progress your career in-house longer term.

18:45 - 19:15

Networking

If you didn't get a chance to ask the panellists what you wanted, you can speak to them one on one after the panel. This is also a great opportunity to get to know other students in your area.
